The places students learn affect how they learn. The EFC library is continually adding resources that show a link between the physical learning spaces and academic achievement.

View Resources
Webinar: Environmental Health at School

Who's In Charge of Children's Environmental Health in Childcare Settings & Schools

Date: 01/12/2016
Time: 1:00 PM EST

This webinar is part of an ongoing series of educational presentations by experts on issues that focus on current and emerging aspects of pediatric and reproductive environmental health.

At the conclusion of this activity, attendees should be able to:

- Describe some of the environmental health hazards that occur in childcare and school settings
- Describe the roles that federal, state and local agencies may be able to play in preventing or mitigating some of the environmental health hazards that occur in childcare and school settings
- Discuss the potential roles of the PEHSUs in assisting schools and agencies in dealing with some of the environmental health hazards that occur in childcare and school settings
- Discuss potential improvements in policies and practices for dealing with some of the environmental health hazards that occur in childcare and school settings

Registration

"Design is not just what it looks like and feels like. Design is how it works."

- Steve Jobs